Chemistry Living and Learning Community

Are you interested in living on campus?

Would you like to join a community of your fellow
Chemistry Department students?

Consider joining the Chemistry Living and Learning Community (CLLC) in Fall 2024!

New for Fall 2024, we are offering a Chemistry Living and Learning Community (CLLC) for first-year and transfer students enrolled within the Chemistry Department. The CLLC is an on-campus community that is designed around the values and vision of WCU which emphasize scientific/quantitative literacy, collaborative approaches to service, effective communication, and inclusive engagement in diverse communities. Students that are a part of the CLLC will take part in the following activities:

- Developing successful and collaborative study strategies with other members of the CLLC with peer and faculty mentors.
- Cultivate an identity in STEM through community-building and career-oriented events both on and off campus.
- Contribute meaningful service to the community and department to develop a sense of shared responsibility.

If interested, please contact the CLLC Faculty Mentors:
